

Progress so far

After the end of the IO3, the consortium held a training week for the resources created. This last result, called SLOW TRAINING, consisted of a manual for coaches, trainers and facilitators to implement the SNAIL training system in companies.

Since no major changes were proposed, the draft version was therefore considered as final. However, tips gathered from testing during LTT will also be included for the online version of the manual with videos added. Finally, it will be translated in all partners languages.

LTT and Multiplier Events

On the 4th, 5th and 6th of July, the training week of the project took place in Timisoara (Romania). During these three days, each partner explained their respective tools in order to train the future trainers of workers and managers.

Regarding the multiplier events, some of them were already organized by partners while others will be held in the summer or after the summer of 2022.

Partners should collect statements from participants at MEs to be included in the final online version of the IO3 manual.
